

FOREWARD

This booklet has been designed on the basis that the learners are adults and that they have a certain knowledge of the English language. Thus, the program suggested has been mainly based on electric approach.

We do hope that all the activities you will go through, will enable you to improve somehow your English and to use all the items practised in an appropriate way.

The keys are provided at the end of the booklet to allow you check and correct your own mistakes; self-correction and self-evaluation being an important part of the learning process.

Our main wish remains that by the time you will have covered all the contents of the booklet, a noticeable progress will be ensured.

A K7 which includes all the materials presented in the booklet will follow in order to provide opportunities for listening to authentic English.

This type of English-training will enable you to learn English at your own pace. Learning is facilitated as there is no time nor moving constraints. What is important to know, however, is that planning regular working session is compulsory.